POPULAR RULE IS BEST

(Centinued From Page One.) socuring to the people the right to talk

Roosevelt's St. Leuis Seesch. Colonel Roosevelt said in part

When I say that I believe not only in the right of the people to rule but in then duty to rule themselves and to their duty to rule themselves and to refuse to endutit to being voted by others, I am not using a ligure of speach, I am speaking of a vital issue thich (undamentally offices our whole American life 1 not merch admit but insier that in al. government, and especially in popular government, there must be control, and furthermore that if control does not come from within it must come from withour

There are peoples in the world who have proved by their is nentable experience that they are not capable of this self-control, but I contend that the American people most emphatically are capable of it. I held that in the long run, taken as a whole, our people can and will govern themselves a great deal better than any small set of men can govern them. The attempt has recently been made to improve on Ahraham Lincoln's atatement that 't'us is a government of the people, for the people, by the proposed that this government shall hereafter be a government of the perple, for the people has a representa-tive part of the people. It is always a dangerous matter to try to improve on Lincoln when we deal with the rights and duties of the people, and this particular attempt at improvement is not a happy one. In substance it, of course, means nothing but this is to be a government of the whole prople by a part of the people. We have had such a government in various parts of this Union from time to time and stripped of verbiage it simply means a government of the people Now I want each of you to consider this governmental proposition from his own individual standiguit.

States experience has shown that the effort to substitute for the genuine rule of the prople something elecutions; means the rule of privilege in some form or other. Whenever there is tyreney by the majority I shall certainly fight it. But the tyrannies from which we have been suffering in this country have, 29 times out of 146, been togannies of a minority, that is tyren-ny by privilege. Semetimes as in the case of some public utility franchise or other bit of grabbing by a few that belongs to the many, the tyranny is primarily commercial. At other times, it is primarily political. This, for instance, is true just at the present day in those states where the people have been denied the right to vote at primaries in order to express their prefer-

THE ISSUE IN COLORADO

THE rough-shod fashion in which the Taft faction, led by Guggenheim's Denverdelegation, ran the Republican State Convention in this city last Wednesday strengthens the conviction that there can be no really effective political progress in Colorado until the Deuver machina is

This is a conclusion to which every behever in honest politics must come soon or late, whether he be a Republican or a Democrat. It is not a partisan matter, for the incubus weighs heavily on both the Republican and Democratic parties in Denver and throughout the state. A system which enables a small grow of men to dominate both political organizations, to control leg-"islation, to dictate nominations for office in city, state and county, to dispose of United States senatorships and even of positions on the Supreme bench, as they see fit, is intolerable. It would be had enough if these ends were accomplished entirely by shrewd political manipulation but without dishonesty. But the fact that the whole system is permeated with graft and corruption makes it infinitely worse.

The mayor of Denver is a Democrat and his administration is nominally Democratic throughout. Yet it works hand-inglove with the big Republican politicians, and its official mouthpiece and journalistic exponent is the Denver Republican, in all other respects a staunch party organ. The group of men who rule the machine have taken all Colorado as their oyster. They have a hand in every deal. Their organization reaches out into every county in the state and thereby nominates and elects a safe working majority in every legislature: Thus the control of the machine over legislation is practically complete. No law gets on the statute books until it has passed. the scrumy of the machine leaders and been found to be favorable to their interesis, or at least not inimical to them.

POPULAR A FARCE.

Under such conditions the enactment of GOVERNMENT laws which will actually secure the rights of the people is simply out of the question. The big financial interests which are back of the machine are at liberty to rob and plunder the people at will. Their attorneys draft the bills which they want to become laws; the machine leaders in Senate and House give their orders, and the members obey like so many puppets pulled by a string. It was thus that the railway commission law was passed an absolutely worthless measure which was drafted by representatives of the railway themselves and jammed through the legislature to forestall an attempt to pass a really effective law.

And to make sure that their plans do not miscarry through a possible failure of the courts to interpret such laws to their satisfaction the organization has not neglected the judiciary. It is neither a slander nor a violation of confidence to say that many Colorado courts, not excepting the Supreme Court itself, have been repeatedly and shamefully packed at the behest of corporation interests acting through the all-powerful Denver machine. The resulting incompetency and inefficiency not to speak of something infinitely worse . has become a national scandal until now the shortcomings of our Colorado courts are being aired in the pages of two or three magazines for the edification of millions of readers all over the country.

Corporation influence, working through the Denver machine, is responsible for the disgraceful presence of Simon Guggenheim in the United States Senate, and it was responsible last Wednesday for his election as Republican national committeeman. This influence is responsible for the long train of humiliating legislative scandels of the last decade, including the open and shameless bribery in connection with the attempt to pass the Colorado & Southern bill a few years ago.

It is remarible for the corruption which characteristizes the city administration in Denver and for a sotten police administration which has made that city notorious for its unbridled vice. It is responsible for the never-ending and generally successful efforts to throttle every movement in behalf of real popular goveinment made in this state

It was the long arm of the Denver machine that reached into the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee and forhade presidential primaries in Colorado. It is to to thet in a few constitut, including El Paro, put its sent cas strong and to obtain this reform, but after all "to Deliver - th' o insceeded in multify" a "s goed the economical, for it comtrolled the same you and rode remarked over the inguity, starting a solid delegation of sight to the National Convention.

FIFCIED

And what a delegation GANGSIERS it is! First on the list comes Simon Guggen-DFIEGATES. heim, United States Senator by virtue of the potency of his checkbook; Tom Devine of Pueblo, an obedient servant of the machine; Crawford Hill, owner of the Denver Republican and like Guggenheim a millionaire whose interests are well conserved by the organization. Another of the delegates honored by the convention with this expression of confidence is A. M. Stevenson

"Big Archie" perhaps as typical a specimen of the practical politician at his worst as could be found in the country. And in the list of alternates there is "Jim" Williams of Denver, a worthy disciple of "Big-Archie." ~

In refreshing contrast to these is Mr. Irving Howbert of Colorado Springs, a manof the best and highest type. The only wonder is how the gang managed to make the concession to decency involved in putting Mr. Howhert on the delegation.

So long as the Denver machine can continue its present policy of preventing united action against it by the organizations in other counties it will remain entrenched in power. It adheres to the maxim, "Divide and Govern," and thus far it has been successful, but there is apparent throughout Colorado a steadily growing feeling against the brutal domination of the Denver gang. This was strikingly manifested in the convention last Wednesday when Vincent's scathing denunciation of the Denver delegation was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers from Roosevelt and Taft delegates alike all over the hall.

The grip of the Denver machine on the political and commercial life of Colorado must be loosened or the state cannot prosper. It is a matter of absolutely vital coucern to the entire people. This is the issue in the state carryings of 1912, and it will be the issue in every other campaign until victory is accomplished.

these are the ones I especially wanted to indorse. The question as to whether the husband or the littely necessary for good health. Every wife should have charge of the family purse strings s often agliated. Some maintain that the husband, form and the body is not complete is the provider, should bandle all the money, eithers hold that the wife, as the buyer, should have the eash turned over to her. Both methods have proved successful and both have failed. I think the old folks have exactly the right idea. Some people naturally are capable of planning and saving and spending wisely. Others are not. The best planner, whether husband or wife, should certainly be the inancial manager.

"Do not speak disparagingly of your life partner's family" is a gem. I know one family where the husband and wife seem to love each other dearly, and yet heither ever miss misses a chance to hurt the other by a slap at his family. His sister's penuriousness, her brothers improvidence, his father's had temper, her nephew's gambling tendencies—these are licious prevariestor. This league is subjects which are continually dragged into the conversation to the distinct detriment of family harmony. After a quarrel, resulting from one of these unkind allusions on the part of the wife, she and I talked the matter over. Said she, "But everything said about his father was true and he knows it." What If it were true? There are many true things which do not need to be discussed. What if he did know it was true? That didn't prevent him from resenting her dragging it into the conversation. I do not like a man who will let his wife needlessly aimse his father or mother, or a woman who permits that from her husband. It isn't foyal. there were ever a sleeping dog that it's well to let ie, it's this subject of your partner's family. But the best of all these good rules to me is the

To the Edutor of The Gazette:

I was much interested in Taxpayer's article; while troperty owners naturally expect to pay taxes, it would be advantageous if there were some way of prophesying what the future assessments would be, thus a person would be more able to determine if it were cheaper to rent or own his home. For instan w. I belong to the great throng of common varking people, to whom a dollar is comtosed of one bundred hard-earned cents. About three years also i decided to buy a home, and selected property on one of the main streets of this city, in a locality that had been settled for years. For twenty years or more the atreets had been in daily use as then suffleyed and I had no reason to anticipate any change for years to come. However, in a very short time after I bought, a movement was set on foot which ended in that street being closed and made it necessary for me, as well as my seighbors, to go to the main part of town in a roundshout way. In a few weeks the surveyor established a new grade on the street and I was compelled to have reover of loads of dirt hauled in order to bring my sidewalk up to the level required, and this left my lot two feet below the level of the sidewalk. The office of chief ruler was once offered to the This had caused me considerable expense and in the end my property was injured instead of improved. The next thing, I was ordered to put in a cement for I received notice to put in a sink and connect with the sewer. This cost $200. Now, leng than two years after this expensive plumbing was installed. I hear we have to have the new valves to reduce water pressure put in. All the z extra expenses, in addition to the regular taxts and water tent, has kept toe from painting my house, or doing any of those annual repairs necessary to keen a property looking up-to-date, and I now agree with my rent-paving neighbors in the vicinity, as they ray no more rent than formerly, their landlords have stood these extra expenses, and have kept thitr houses in repair If I had had she way of knowing what was com-

same openly and frankly to this article. People have been educated in mediine all their lives hence can see no other way. It is a case of hundreds to one in this question. People refuse to be bonest with themselves and investigate. They take a doctor's opinion too readily and thoughtlessly. That's why the medical trust has grown so strong and unbearable. May the day soon come, and it is fast approaching, when medical freedom will ring through this land, and the unfortunate victims of the knives and medicine and compulsory inspection be given their liberty.

Do the people of this city believe that a profession is going to expend money and time to pass laws that will reduce their income by preventing disease in the schools? Are the doctors going to take money out of their own pockets? No! No! They are naturally and reasonably going to pass laws that vill not them a greater income and that in contravention to what is honest, just, humane and decent, and one method by which this can be accomplished is by compulsory inspection, which means compulsory medication accination and operations on helpless and innocent school children.
